Bay3000 Consulting Inc. Creates Corporate Education Division

Toronto, Canada (July 5th, 2003) – Bay3000 Consulting Inc. announced today the creation of the Bay3000 Corporate Education Division. This expansion is due to the success and growth of its training and development services and the demand for more training programs in the areas of general leadership and management to supplement its already successful Project Management curriculum.

Bay3000 is already known for its excellent consulting and coaching services and will continue these value added offerings for organizations. Even within its consulting and coaching services, Bay3000 is unique in its focus on knowledge transfer to its clients and thus is making the Corporate Education Division the core of its marketing efforts. This follows the demand for clients for partners who can help to develop their internal staff through training, coaching, mentoring, and consulting that incorporates knowledge transfer.
