Engineers without Borders honored at 2006 Canadian Project Excellence Awards (CPEX)

Toronto, ON (April 14, 2006) Bay3000 Corporate Education, a leading provider of management and leadership training and development and this year's managing sponsor of CPEX, proudly announces the recipient of this year's Social Impact Award is the SCALA project; a joint effort between Engineers Without Borders (EWB) and the Philippines government. The award will be presented on the final day of CPEX, April 27, at the Ontario Science Centre.

"We are most honored that CPEX has recognized the important contribution of the SCALA Program. Their support reaffirms that Canadians are both passionate about development and excited about projects that seek to empower those living in poverty, providing hope for developing communities" Said Brenna Donoghue, Director of Communications for Engineers without Borders Canada. SCALA, which stands for Sharing Computer Access Locally and Abroad, is a project designed to modernize the existing youth social programming in Philippines by creating computer centres and integrated skills training. Every year more than 1500 underprivileged youth graduate from program with a renewed confidence and basic computer skills.

According to Gina Davidovic head of the CPEX selection committee and Vice President of Solutions for Bay3000 Corporate Education, "the selection committee felt the SCALA project embodied all the elements for excellence in Social Impact and recognizes and represents the project work of many volunteer projects." The SCALA project relies on volunteers and fundraising efforts from local chapters like the University of Waterloo to fund and execute this program. The EWB University of Waterloo chapter is currently fundraising to support the costs of this project, and sent one volunteer to work on the project last summer and will be sending one this summer.

As managing sponsor of CPEX 2006 Bay3000 is pleased to honor EWB Canada as we all look forward to this exciting event. The CPEX Awards ceremony and reception takes place the evening of Thursday April 27, at the Ontario Science Centre.
